

Improving Identification and Management of Elder Abuse and Neglect

Presented by Tony Rosen, MD, MPH, & Alyssa Elman, LCSW, Weill Cornell Medicine

Free virtual CME

Elder abuse, neglect and exploitation are common and have serious consequences. The hospital setting, particularly the Emergency Department, offers an ideal opportunity to identify and intervene. Experts from the Weill Cornell/New York-Presbyterian's Vulnerable Elder Protection Team (VEPT) will share insight from their multi-disciplinary approach to address elder mistreatment with the intent to increase patient outcomes and safety.

OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this educational activity, the participant should be able to:

- Identify injury patterns and clinical findings associated with physical elder abuse.
- Describe steps to ensure complete documentation of findings, ensure patient safety and report to authorities as appropriate.
- Describe potential benefits and limitations of screening.

TARGET AUDIENCE

This activity is designed for advanced practitioners, nurses, pharmacists, physicians, social workers and other interested health care professionals.
